

BIG FOUR AGREE TO FAR EAST CONFERENCE

Rep. Mason Quits Commission Over Manion Firing

Chairman Dismissed Because of Support For Bricker Amendment

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U)—A Republican congressman angrily quit President Eisenhower's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations today in protest against White House dismissal of Chairman Clarence Manion.

Rep. Noah M. Mason of Illinois resigned with a sizzling statement that Manion's ouster "smacks of autocratic dictatorship."

Mason's parting shot at the White House dramatized the bitter dispute within the Republican Party over the proposed Bricker amendment to presidential treaty powers. Manion, former dean of Notre Dame Law School, announced Wednesday he was fired because he supported the Bricker amendment. He said he quit at request of presidential aide Sherman Adams.

Regarded as Big Man

Mason, a GOP right-winger, said he had come to regard Manion "as one of the biggest men in the country, a man big enough and capable enough to be President of the United States."

"For a man of that calibre to be dismissed from a post of national importance by a presidential assistant because of his expressed convictions that we need the Bricker amendment is nothing short of a national calamity," Mason fumed. "Such action smacks of autocratic dictatorship."

Sen. John W. Bricker (Ohio) and his supporters were voting Wednesday in favor of a Republican leadership compromise on the most disputed section of the proposed amendment when Manion's announcement was made public. A final vote is sought this week. There was immediate speculation that further compromise efforts by the Republican Senate leadership would be hampered by Manion's removal.

Bricker and others instantly denounced the White House action. Bricker said:

"When the time comes when those who do not believe alike with the leadership of the government in power cannot continue to serve in official capacities, there is a serious storm brewing ahead. I hope he continues in this campaign (for the amendment) and devotes his life and his ability to it."

Bricker seemed greatly moved as he addressed the Senate.

No White House Comment
Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) told the Senate he was "shocked and disturbed" by the firing of Manion. He said the White House should make public its reasons.

Jenner is chairman of the Senate Internal Security Committee. He remarked that congressional investigators often are criticized because witnesses cannot confront their accusers. He hoped Manion would get a chance to do so.

Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb.) said the "White House had made a political error" in asking for Manion's resignation.

The White House refused to comment on the Manion incident. On Jan. 29 presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty was asked about reports that Manion would be fired because he supported the Bricker amendment. Hagerty replied:

"The President of the United States does not believe in censoring the personal opinions of any man he appointed to an important position."

Father Jailed at Carmi for Whipping Daughter with Belt

CARMI, Ill. (U)—A young father was held in jail here today for whipping his 6-year-old daughter with a leather belt until it broke, leaving her body criss-crossed with welts.

The father, Kenneth McWhirter, 30, Maunie, was held in lieu of $1,000 bond on a charge of aggravated assault for whipping his daughter, Jean.

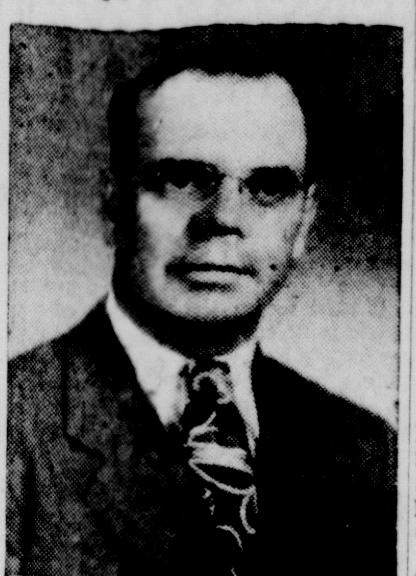

White County Sheriff Daley Griffith said McWhirter admitted whipping the girl, whose back, hips and thighs showed welts.

But he said he didn't mean to hurt her. McWhirter said he whipped the girl because she wouldn't give a penny to a younger brother, Griffith said.

Rev. Tellis Young Resigns as Pastor at Dorrisville Church

The Rev. Tellis Young

The Rev. Tellis Young has resigned as pastor of the Dorrisville Baptist church effective Sunday, Feb. 28. He has accepted the pastorate of the Elm Street Baptist church in Murphysboro and Rev. and Mrs. Young and daughter will move to Murphysboro Friday, Feb. 26, to begin his work there on March 1.

The Youngs moved to Harrisburg in September 1952. During this time there have been 29 professions of faith, with 22 of this number united with the church by baptism, and there have been 14 additions by letter. The church also completed its new educational building and installed a new heating plant in the church and parsonage during his pastorate. The Sunday school has been changed from a class to a departmental school with a large number of new officers and teachers.

Rev. Young entered the ministry while living in Cape Girardeau, Mo., and was pastor in Missouri until 1943 when he moved to Illinois. He came to Dorrisville from the First Baptist church in Chester where he was pastor for four and a half years.

6,000 Soldiers Riot in Korea To See Marilyn

WITH MARILYN IN KOREA (U)—Stone-throwing American soldiers rioted today in their eagerness to see actress Marilyn Monroe and her entourage. The riot was the latest in a series of disturbances in the Korean peninsula which has been the scene of a mob pushing forward to see the blonde beauty.

Six thousand soldiers of the U.S. 45th Division staged the wildest demonstration yet seen in Miss Monroe's three-day "something for the boys" tour of Korea.

Midway through the 45-minute soldier show that preceded Miss Monroe's five-minute act, the crowd began to become unruly.

They started to boo the soldiers' entertainment efforts. Some spectators hurled rocks onto the stage.

"Bring on Marilyn, bring on Marilyn," the crowd chanted.

Skin-Tight Purple Dress
When the hall of rocks became too heavy, Army authorities stopped the preliminary show.

Then the famous calendar beauty appeared, clad in a skin-tight purple dress that revealed much of her famous figure.

The mob stormed toward the stage.

One soldier was trampled in the rush. He was rescued by his friends and removed in an Army ambulance.

Marilyn sang three songs, but the shouts and cries from the crowd nearly drowned out her voice over the powerful public address system.

Earlier at the 2nd Division, she wriggled through a chowline with pop-eyed GI's.

Police Chief Kills Self After Hit-Run Death of Boy, 14

WOODBIDGE, N. J. (U)—Authorities said today that Police Chief George E. Keating's suicide resulted from remorse after he struck and killed a 14-year-old boy with his auto and then fled from the scene.

The 62-year-old policeman drank cyanide, a deadly poison, a few hours before he was to be questioned in the hit-run case.

Keating's body was found Tuesday in the bathroom of his home. The hit-run accident, in which Robert Berard was killed, occurred Monday night.

Alex Eber, Middlesex county prosecutor, said "we must conclude" that Keating took his life because of the death of the boy.

"We have strong and persuasive reason to believe that the car driven by Keating struck and killed that boy," Eber said.

Three Economists Differ On Views for Upward Economy Swing in Spring

WASHINGTON (U)—Three economists disagreed today over whether the nation's economy will take an upward swing this spring.

The differing views were offered by Edwin G. Nourse, head of the Council of Economic Advisers in the Truman administration; Alvin H. Hansen, professor of political economy at Harvard University; and Martin R. Gainsburgh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board.

They testified before a joint congressional committee on the nation's economy as Republicans and Democrats prepared to back President Eisenhower if he feels emergency measures are necessary to prevent a depression.

Consider Tax Concessions

Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday that if employment does not pick up in March he will consider steps, including possible tax concessions to boost consumer purchasing power.

Nourse said he was "less sanguine" than President Eisenhower's recent Economic report on "the prospect for a spontaneous upturn of business in the next few months." He said the current "economic adjustment" is "much more fundamental than mere inventory trimming."

Hansen said that while a slight drop in the economy is "plausible" this year, "a cumulative spiraling collapse of serious proportions is unlikely." The serious problem confronting the nation, he said, is not stabilizing the economy at the present level, but "maintaining the growth, expansion and momentum of the last four years."

The serious problem confronting the nation, he said, is not stabilizing the economy at the present level, but "maintaining the growth, expansion and momentum of the last four years."

Gainsburgh said the business outlook for 1954 is "not necessarily gloomy," but that the next few months should tell whether the economy is going to snap out of the "inventory recession."

The Democrats applauded the President for "belatedly" recognizing that the nation is faced with a recession. But Republicans insisted that the outlook is good.

Members of both parties were united, however, in agreeing that anything that needs to be done to keep the nation's economy healthy will get their support.

Presidential assistant Sherman Adams said in a radio interview Wednesday night (NBC "Report From The White House") that he was not being "caustic or critical" in charging recently that Democratic "political sadists" were trying to talk the country into a depression.

After the final exchange of heated remarks by counsel, Judge Kaufman granted custody of the three children to Mrs. Roosevelt, but ordered that their father have "reasonable visitation privileges."

He said also, that she was more than $100,000 richer than she was when they were married.

Arthur E. Schifferman, one of Mrs. Roosevelt's three attorneys, claimed Roosevelt had misled the court in his financial statements, and added, "We have shown that Mr. Roosevelt cannot be believed in any of his testimony."

Eldorado Group Asks Board For New Bridge

Request is Turned Over to County Road, Bridge Committee

A dozen Eldorado citizens representing ten organizations there appeared before the Saline County Board of Supervisors this morning seeking a new bridge at the south end of Fourth street, where the street intersects U. S. Route 45.

Following remarks about the present bridge by T. Leo Dodd, the spokesman, and others, and an explanation by R. D. Brown, county superintendent of highways, of how the road and bridge machinery is set up, the matter was turned over to the county's road and bridge committee.

The dozen present from Eldorado represented the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, the Junior Women's club, the Women's club, Beta Sigma Phi, the Beautification committee of "Operation Bootstrap," Labor's Association for Industrial Development, the Eldorado Retail association, the Lions club and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Dodd told the county board that the bridge, which he understood had been condemned, was constructed by Eldorado township and maintained by the county.

Pointing out that it is on the way into the business section of the city, he said that an eight-hour check from 6 a. m. to 2 p. m. on a Tuesday this month showed 951 vehicles crossing it, that nearly all trucks from a grain elevator must use this bridge.

He said that its width of 20.4 feet, and its position right where traffic moves off a four-lane highway onto the narrow bridge, made it both a bottleneck and hazardous.

Mr. Dodd also pointed out that Eldorado is now in the midst of a program called "Operation Bootstrap" for the development and improvement of all phases of community life and a new bridge to replace the present bottleneck is one of the projects listed.

He said that the community is now on its third day of giving the Eldorado city hall a face-lifting, with fifty men volunteering their services and women serving coffee and doughnuts.

Brown explained the bridge was on one of the State Aid roads, of which there are 132 miles in the county. They are roads on which Motor Fuel Tax funds can be spent.

Down-and-Out Wounded POW Aided by Well-Wishers, Turns Out a Faker

SPRINGFIELD (U)—The men and women who opened their hearts and pocketbooks for a "down-and-out" wounded prisoner of war hoped today they'll see the young man again soon — behind bars.

He turned out to be more of a bum than a hero after well-wishers put him on his feet and onto a bus Wednesday.

A man who said he was Donald Jellema, 24, Sioux Falls, S. D., told police he had lost his billfold and $412 mustering-out pay while in a movie here. He said he had been beaten and partially blinded in a Korean prison camp.

He touched the hearts of detectives by telling them that he was unable to continue a planned trip to Pennsylvania and that his sister and mother had been killed in an auto accident.

Travelers Aid put the young man up in a hotel room and fed him two meals. Newspaper stories described his plight while police searched for the billfold.

Contributions were quickly made. The Democratic county chairman gave $25. A businessman and his wife gave up a weekend trip to contribute $50. Workers at a truck terminal passed the hat to the tune of $36.

Even Detective Chief Willard Kelley was convinced. He chipped in $1.

At noon Wednesday a small crowd of new-found friends saw the bogus soldier board a bus.

But in the meantime, a Red Cross check showed that:

A Donald Jellema had been in the Korean War but had not been wounded or taken prisoner.

Jellema's mother was alive and well in Sioux Falls.

Jellema himself was in Sioux Falls. A pickpocket had stolen his billfold recently in Spirit Lake, Iowa.

Police tried to intercept the bogus Jellema's bus, but the faker had alighted at Decatur, Ill., and disappeared.

years and three months from the time construction was started, the first unit at TVA's Shawnee plant was placed in commercial operation while the smokestacks of Joppa, across the Ohio river were still clean and cold.

He said costs at Joppa increased from original estimate of $126 to $184 per kilowatt.

The Shawnee plant was originally estimated to cost $147.50 per kilowatt, Clapp said, and the final cost is expected to be well within the estimates.

"If this story has a moral," Clapp said, "perhaps this is it: Enterprise is where you find it."

Clapp said the AEC decided in 1950 to accept a proposal from a newly formed private company to supply half the power for the Paducah facility.

The announcement, he said, "was hailed by critics of the TVA as a contest between public and private enterprises."

The Joppa plant was given the priorities in building materials and manufacturing facilities and was to start three months before the TVA's first unit, Clapp said.

Both projects missed their completion dates, he said, but "two

Gov't to Slash Butter Supports 8 1-4 Cents Pound

WASHINGTON (U)—Government price supports on butter will be cut 8 1/4 cents a pound beginning April 1, the Agriculture Department announced today.

Supports on cheese will be cut 4 1/2 cents a pound and on dried milk about 1 cent a pound.

The reductions reflect the slash from 90 to 75 per cent of parity in dairy price supports announced by Secretary Ezra T. Benson Monday.

Benson estimated this would mean a drop of about 8 cents a pound in retail butter prices.

Under the reduced support level, the department said its actual purchasing price on Grade A butter will be 57 1/2 cents a pound in Chicago, San Francisco, and Seattle; and 58 1/2 cents a pound in New York.

This year it has been paying 66 1/2 cents a pound in New York; 65 1/2 cents a pound in Chicago and 66 1/2 cents in San Francisco and Seattle.

For Grade B butter the new price pegs will be 55 1/2 cents a pound in Chicago, San Francisco, and Seattle, and 56 1/2 cents in New York. This year it has been buying Grade B butter at prices 2 cents a pound below Grade A prices in specified cities.

When the public work day is declared, the building will be painted inside and out, the lawns will be landscaped, and other improvements will be made on the interior. Mayor John Upchurch will be assigned to repainting the city jail.

At a town meeting this week, the finance committee of "Operation Bootstrap" reported that it had received more than $500 in contributions to help defray some of the expenses of conducting the community study.

CIPS Halts Pumps At Reservoir

The Central Illinois Public Service Co. pumps at the reservoir halted at 3 p. m. yesterday due to lack of water in Middle Fork creek but "Congo," which can go on less water, is still operating upstream.

The CIPS pumps poured water into the drying reservoir from early Tuesday evening. The big 14,500 gallon per minute pump went out yesterday morning when the water level went down in the creek but the 3,000 and 750 gallon pumps continued until mid-afternoon.

Will Be Held At Geneva, Switzerland

Agreement Reached At Final Day of Berlin Conference

BULLETIN
BERLIN (U)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles announced today that the Big Four conference has agreed to hold a Korean political conference, including Red China, which could be followed "if Communist China wants it" by a meeting on Indochinese peace.

BERLIN (U)—The Big Four foreign ministers agreed today to hold a Far Eastern peace conference including Red China, in Geneva, Switzerland, April 15.

The agreement was reached at a secret meeting of the foreign ministers on the last day of the Berlin conference.

Discussion at the Geneva Conference will be limited to a Korean peace treaty in its first phase, informants said.

Participants will be the United States, Great Britain, France, Soviet Russia, Communist China, South Korea and North Korea.

After the Korea conference, a second conference would be held on Indochina. Taking part would be the United States, Britain, France, Russia, Red China and the three associated states of Indochina—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

Conference Saved From Failure
The Big Four foreign ministers agreed to draft a communique, announcing the Far East conference agreement, at their final plenary session which started shortly after 3 p. m.

Agreement on the Geneva conference saved the Berlin meeting from total failure.

It was made possible by a series of concessions by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov, who had demanded a conference on all world tensions with Red China a full participant.

To French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault the agreement was a major personal triumph. It enables him to return to Paris with the promise of negotiations, at least, to end the grim, costly war in Indochina, now in its eighth year. It is expected to increase the French government's chance of getting Parliament to ratify the European Defense Community pact which provides for the inclusion of German troops in a six-nation West European army.

Red China Given Back Seat
When the final secret session opened this morning, a high source said the ministers already had reached tentative agreement on the Korean conference on terms submitted by the West.

The Soviets were said to have agreed to give Red China a back seat at the conference by dropping their demand that the Peiping representatives be full participants.

OLMSTED, Ill. (U)—The body of Ernest L. Stroughmatt, 28, was found floating in the Ohio river south of here Wednesday afternoon. Pulaski County Sheriff John Barnett said today.

Stroughmatt and his brother, Edgar, 17, who came across the river from here on the Kentucky side, disappeared Feb. 2 after crossing the river in their motorboat. Edgar has not been found.

Barnett and Coroner H. J. Elkins said there was no sign of foul play on Stroughmatt's body, which apparently had been under an old barge.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Dems' Top Senators Cool Toward Stevenson; Many Favor Symington For '56 Presidential Nomination; Nehru Warns
U. S. Pakistan Tie May Alienate
India.

WASHINGTON. — Though the Democratic leaders of the Senate are supposed to be among the top-ranking leaders of the Democratic party, they came close to boycotting the gala Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner to be held in Miami March 6 rather than appear on the same platform with the party's head, Adlai Stevenson.

Inside fact is that the trio who run the Democratic side of the Senate—Minority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic Whip Earle Clements of Kentucky and Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia, the real power behind the scenes—are secretly grooming their own candidate, Missouri's handsome, able Stuart Symington.

Therefore, when Stevenson accepted an invitation to head the celebrity list at the Miami Beach dinner, the Johnson-Clements-Russell group seriously debated whether they should attend. Their bright young political disciple, Sen.
George Smathers of Florida, who got the assignment of introducing Stevenson, also considered whether he should go through with it or turn the job over to ex-Sen. Claude Pepper, leader of Florida's liberal faction. Smathers was in a difficult position because Pepper seems almost certain to run against him
in 1956.

All these political implications were solemnly weighed by Johnson, Clements, Russell, Symington and Smathers at an island hideaway off the Florida coast where they spent four days of fishing and political angling. In the end, they decided that appearing in the same spotlight with Stevenson would not necessarily constitute an endorsement of him for nomination in 1956. They also agreed to make the March 6 dinner a great show of Democratic unity with Democrats of all political shades slapping back and breaking bread together.

Note — Meanwhile, the Stevenson-appointed Democratic national chairman, Steve Mitchell, has been playing up to the conservative southern wing. He has deliberately cold-shouldered the liberal elements in the south, and has even gone out of his way to boost Senator McClellan of Arkansas who backed Strom Thurmond of South Carolina against President Truman
in 1948.

FRIENDS AT COURT
Scott McLeod, the State Department security officer who brought a storm of Democratic wrath down on his head as a result of his Lincoln Day speeches, has had wrath brought down inside the State Department for some time.

One wrath-provoking incident occurred some months ago when Mc-Leod wanted to move his personal furniture from one house to another and drafted two members of the State Department security organization to help. The moving occurred on a Saturday afternoon and the two men were paid overtime. They were paid, furthermore, not by McLeod but by the State Department.

When this writer queried the State Department regarding this highly unusual, if not illegal transaction, the official reply was "no comment." Finally, following publication of the above facts, it was learned that McLeod had called in the two State Department men, asked them to refund the original payment to the government, and he substituted his own personal check.

YORK who had a significant interview with Premier Nehru. In it the Indian leader vigorously warned against the U. S.-Pakistan military alliance.

"Look at the advantages you could gain if you spent the same amount of money in helping Pakistan economically instead of helping her militarily," Nehru told Carter.

"Instead, what you are doing will cost India a lot of money. It will upset my five-year plan. For, when Pakistan builds up its army, I have to build up the Indian army
to meet the threat from the north.
That takes money out of our economy."

"But is India equipped to resist Russian aggression?" Congressman Carter asked.

"We have a sufficient army,"
Nehru replied.

"About half a million men," said Nehru, adding, "but more important, we have the Himalayas for protection. Do you know how the Chinese bring in supplies for their troops on the Tibetan border?"

They bring them in through Calcutta and across India. They cannot get supplies across the Himalayas to supply their own troops. So how, then, could they stage an attack?"

"But there is the Khyber Pass," suggested Congressman Carter.
"and also you have the example of the Chinese invasion of Tibet."

"Yes," replied Premier Nehru, pulling a document from his desk.
"but your State Department ruled that Tibet was Chinese. So how can you expect us to argue with them about taking it over. Of course, your State Department made this ruling when Chiang Kai-Shek was in power, and here is a copy of the diplomatic note.
But having ruled that it was Chinese once, you have to take the consequences, and so does India."

and the dinner hour dependent on network schedules.

A whole new problem in child rearing has grown—the problem of how to get the children away from the set and to bed on schedule.

Dishwashing has become a complex chore—with homemakers either getting them done in a hurry
once the meal is over, leaving them in the sink, or washing them a few at a time during station breaks.

Television has speeded up housework for some women, slowed it up for others.

Survey 200 Families
The changes wrought by the new medium were outlined in a survey of 100 families in the Philadelphia area. The check, made by door-to-door questioning, was conducted by a washing powder clinic, (Tide) which keeps tabs on how America lives, so it also can know how it keeps clean.

U. I. Professor Invents New Theatre Screen

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—A professor has invented a new motion picture screen which will permit an audience to sit in a circular theater and be completely surrounded by the picture, the University of Illinois announced today.

Professor Josef Cohen of the university said his device works with standard lenses and film and only one projector.

Cohen has applied for a patent
on his invention.

He actually envisions the use of only a half-circle picture, he said, since "no one really would be interested in a picture behind himself."

Such a picture, he said, would be twice as wide as that used on present wide-screen systems with three-projectors. It also, he said, will give greater picture brilliance
and definition.

The height of the picture also would be increased, he said, because the image would be lengthwise on the film, instead of crosswise.

Two or more sound tracks on the film would provide stereophonic sound through acoustically-placed speakers, thus increasing the illusion of movement and depth.

Cohen, 32, is a color scientist who has been at Illinois since 1948, working in bio-physics. He also has invented a machine to produce and measure color accurately.

He is a native of Brooklyn, Mass.,
and attended the University of Chicago and Cornell University, as well as serving on the staffs of those schools, before coming to Illinois.

Revolution Money and Old Report Card Found

MILL GROVE, N. Y. (AP)—A two-dollar bill from the revolutionary war and a report card dated 1826 were uncovered when carpenters removed a wall in the home of Mr.
and Mrs. Robert E. Coulson.

The bill, issued by the Continental Congress in 1776, is believed to be worth only 50 cents to $1, according to Harold Hoppie, national representative of the Four County Coin Club. Hoppie said that at the time the bill came out the 13 states were printing their own money, and the bills were responsible for the phrase "not worth a continental."

Biggest Bass Drum
Harvard University has the biggest bass drum on any campus in the U.S. It is eight feet high and travels on a four-wheeled carriage.

"I don't need TV to make me burn
the meals."

Half the women said their dishwashing routine had been altered.
Family Arguments, Too

"Sometimes we leave them and rush out to the sink between acts,"
said one matron. "This is a show
in itself."

One family said it hit on the idea of locking the kitchen door until the last pot was dried and put away.

Forty-eight per cent of the women tried to do housework and watch at the same time. Ten women reported scorching shirts as a result.
One woman reported having her eyes crossed.

Others confessed family arguments.
"He hates comedians and plays,"
said one wife. "I hate fights."
More than 50 per cent of the women said television definitely had helped them do their job as homemakers. They praised the tips from cooking shows in particular.
"Why, we never knew where to put our plants, until we got a TV set," said one woman.
Another reported, "I don't have to work as hard. Nobody notices a little dust now."

Come A-Smokin'

Copyright 1953 by Nelson Rife

THE STORY: Grete Marratt, a fugitive, has learned that the owner of the Wineglass ranch, Clem Ryerson, is the man he has sworn to kill. Naome, a girl Marratt once had rescued, is Ryerson's daughter. Marratt is known as Luke Usher, a man he resembles. Luke disappeared 15 years ago after accusing Ryerson of murdering his father, Jake Usher. Churk Crafin, Wineglass ramrod, is afraid Mar-ratt will expose Wineglass thievery of the Usher cattle. He knows that Naome has obtained a canceled
checks given Crafin by Beckwith,
the Indian agent, for the beef cattle, and he has sent Tularosa, a murderous hireling, to take the checks from Naome.

From here on out the shoe'll be on the other foot—"
"You got to make a speech every time you open your trap?"
"That's all right—I kin make your epitaph too, boy. I ain't forgot how you come runnin' around that house with a pistol right after Jake was killed! It was you, not Ryerson, that murdered your ol' man—an' you'll do what I tell you or I'll see you hanged for it!"

After Ryerson left for the ranch with her bundles Naome'd hurried back to Smith's Rooms and hastily changed into her buckskin and saw boots. She'd wanted mightily to go with her father but hadn't yet found a safe place for those checks so had put him off.

She was sure it had never occurred to him that his range boss could be unfaithful. Her dad in so many ways was like a little boy, living in an imagined world of his own, seeing nothing but good in the people around him.

Using her eyes and her ears she had come to have a pretty bleak conception of their ramrod's real character. She'd unearthed some old rumors concerning why he'd left Texas and had recently talked with a freighter who had known him at Tombstone where Crafin for awhile had been connected with the Clintons.

That had started her wondering about the killing of Jake Usher and she'd got hold of the remarks Luke had made while he was drunk, and the story of how he had afterwards vanished—some seemed of the opinion old Jake's son had been bushwhacked.

She knew Wineglass had been using the Usher range for years and that her father and his range boss seldom discussed ranch business. She'd once taxed him with this and he'd said with a laugh,
"Naome, honey, that's what I hired the man for, to take all that stuff off my shoulders. Churk's doing all right."

It was true, Churk Crafin was doing all right. He couldn't have done better if the place were his own. She noticed how many smaller spreads had gone into her father's ranch and began to understand the attitude of other people, who looked on her father as a range hog.

With apprehensions mounting Naome had sought to find out whether, previous to old Jake's killing,
her father had visited Half Circle

U. She found that he had. With Churk Crafin. She did not know they'd been there together the afternoon the old man died but she began to suspect it.

Thoroughly alarmed, she got to wondering what had happened to the Usher cattle. She couldn't turn up one steer marked with Usher's iron and this seemed to her to be uncommonly peculiar. Nesters and maverickers—even, perhaps, a few Indians—might well have accounted for much of this stock, but certainly not for all of it.

Clad again as Marratt had first seen her in buckskin and saw boots, black braids confined in gleaming circlet of wampum, she hurried back to the street and was just about to leave the protection of the buildings when she saw Tularosa. He made a deeper and motionless kind of crouched shadow in the smoky shade flung down by the mesquite whose branches overhung the pingpang clamor being beaten from Rubelcaba's anvil.

Delta Alpha Chapter Celebrates Silver Anniversary with Dinner Dance

Delta Alpha chapter of Delta Theta Tau celebrated its silver anniversary Saturday evening, Feb. 13, with a dinner dance at the Kurto Country club.

The silver theme was carried out in the decorations which consisted of two large diamond-shaped emblems across which were written in glittering Greek letters the words Delta Theta Tau. These insignias were placed at each side of the band stand. Small silver nut cups were given as favors.

Before the long guest table a lovely three-tiered cake topped with the silver numbers "25" was placed on a small round table covered with silver. The cake was cut and served as dessert. Lighted candles were placed on each side of the cake and on the tables.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Bert Gaskins Jr., the president of Delta Alpha chapter, introduced the charter members of the chapter, Miss Olive Parker, Mrs. Helen Belt and Mrs. Mary Jeanette Parker, and the patronesses, Mrs. J. V. Capel and Mrs. B. B. Hutton.

It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Horning Jr. won the door prize by being the 25th couple to arrive. They received a large heart-shaped box of candy. The music throughout the evening was furnished by Jerome Hart and his band, and a highlight of the affair was the spotlight dance game of which Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vinyard were the winners. They also received a box of candy. The committee in charge of the anniversary consisted of Mrs. Joan Nyberg, the chairman, Mrs. Peggy Ozment, Mrs. Norma Barter, Mrs. Bernice Endicott, Mrs. Kathleen Skaggs, Mrs. Lucille Foster, Mrs. Howard Coyle, Mrs. John Slightom and Mrs. Gaskins.

Following the devotion Mrs. Sam J. Cole gave an original reading which brought laughs from the group. The door prize was won by Mrs. Blondell Hughes.

Xi Chi Chapter Members Entertain Husbands With Barbecue-Whist Party

Members of Xi Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi entertained their husbands with a barbecue-whist party Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes. The game room of the Barnes home was a beautiful setting for the entertainment of twenty-six couples. Dr. and Mrs. Olen Hancock of St. Louis, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Barnes, were house guests attending the party.

The card tables were covered with red cloths and four ceramic ash trays, which had been made and hand painted by the hostesses in various designs and the name of a guest served as place cards at the tables. A barbecue supper was served at 7 o'clock, after which everyone enjoyed playing whist, for which prizes were awarded to Mrs. Clyde Dallas, Roy Metcalf and John Schork. The lucky prize also went to Mr. Metcalf.

After the whist games, a delicious dessert was served and the remainder of the evening was spent enjoying television and visiting.

Mrs. Barnes was assisted by Mrs. Hugh Walker, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. John Stump, Mrs. Hudson Muge and Mrs. Charles Wright.

Mrs. Dora Reynolds Speaks At Past Presidents Parley

The Past Presidents Parley of the American Legion auxiliary met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Olive Blackman for a chili supper.

The meal, prepared by Mrs. C. W. Whitley, Mrs. Trafton Dennis and Mrs. W. W. Wheatley, consisted of chili, a spring relish dish, dessert and coffee. The ladies were served on small tables in the living room.

After a short business meeting conducted by the chairman, Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Blackman introduced Mrs. Dora Reynolds who gave the devotion. Mrs. Reynolds was the first elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary George Hart Unit, No. 167, and when she went to California, Mrs. Blackman became president and served in that capacity for several years.

Mrs. Reynolds gave a beautiful devotion. In her talk she said "Lift up ye gates and be lifted—let the King of Glory enter in." No doubt the auxiliary presidents were inspired by these verses, each in their respective periods through these 32 years which bound them to the same compound of purpose, she said.

Augmented with patriotism, talents, integrity and legislative ability, the past auxiliary presidents yield benefits to others," she said. She concluded her devotion by asking a blessing upon the women that they might have health of mind and body to accomplish things desirable to the Lord. She asked that each increase in faith, hope and charity.

Following the devotion each past president reminisced over her years in the auxiliary, and many interesting experiences were related. Mrs. Blackman read the 1936 and 1937 history which she had compiled and written.

Mrs. Reynolds told of an interesting experience during World War I when she was appointed from Washington to form a committee to aid the draft board. She organized and supervised a group of ladies who prepared box lunches and cigarettes for boys leaving for camp. In order to finance the program, she said, ice cream cones were sold at the railway station in Harrisburg where large crowds gathered to see their loved ones and friends leave. When the end of the war came and her work was completed, she remembered a balance of $10.01 being left in the bank, and upon the closing of the bank it was out-logged, she concluded.

After her talk she gave a personal check for the amount of $10.01 to be used as the group saw fit. Mrs. W. L. Tate, rehabilitation chairman, received it and will use it for veterans who need aid in the Veterans hospital.

Mrs. Reynolds said that she felt as if she had now finished the business she had started so many years ago.

Others attending besides those mentioned were Mrs. James Gwaltney, Mrs. John Schwartz, Mrs. Arthur Moore and Mrs. Ernest Cozart.

A-1c R. M. (Dick) Davis, nephew of Mrs. Della Mathes of Harrisburg, has received his discharge from the Air Force at Wright-Patterson field in Dayton, Ohio. He is now enrolled in the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

First Place Essay in Elks County Contest

The following is the first place essay in the Elks contest among senior high school students in Saline County. It was written by Bill Epperheimer of Harrisburg Township high school, who is son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Epperheimer. The essay has been entered in the Elks district contest.

"Communism - A Disease Of Nations"
Fifty years ago the cause of political, social, and economic freedom seemed well on the way to attaining a condition of pristine health. Emperors and kings were in decline, and totalitarian tyrants had not yet appeared. Special privileges were crumbling, and socialist schemes had not materialized.

Then suddenly there was loosed a terrible scourge - the Red Plague, which swept over Europe and Asia, shaking the bases of liberty and setting up revolutionary tyrannies which enslaved men's souls, tormented their bodies, drug their brains, enmeshed on the freedom of their minds, and filled their hearts with a terrible hatred. Victims were forced to swallow propaganda about having a political party direct the state with "unlimited power based on force, not law"; about "ruthless elimination of 'non-conformists' - all for the benefit of the 'masses'."

Lulled by false promises, Nations found themselves flat on their backs, hopelessly doomed by this malignant malady - communism. This dread menace still spreads, with no nation free from its taint or poisonous germs. Because of it the whole world burns in a fever of ferment - Russia, Japan, Communist China, India, China, India, Moslem and Islam states, Italy, Yugoslavia, and Korea. The Mediterranean countries can find no peace.

Even in our own country the specter of this pestilence stalks our land and threatens our quarantine, hoping to feed upon the weaknesses of our Democracy. Every citizen must pray for help that we may cherish our freedom, our faith in God, and the dignity of man; that we may redouble our efforts for world brotherhood; that the Soviet peoples may be made to see the dangers of materialism; that we may, from the tonic of the Golden Rule and the Decalogue, receive strength to withstand the ravages of this Red Scourge - communism.

The secretary of state recalled the U. S.-British-French declaration of May 27, 1952, which said in part:

"The three governments will continue to maintain armed forces within Berlin, and will treat any attack against Berlin as an attack against their forces and themselves."

Dulles, speaking shortly before the Big Four foreign ministers opened the final sessions of their conference here, said the Western powers still hope to achieve the reunification of Germany.

game be admitted as a full participant.

The Western informant said the Soviets had accepted the following conditions for holding the meeting:

1. The conference would be held in Geneva, Switzerland, preferably April 15.

2. It would be limited to a discussion of the Korean settlement. Then the conference members would turn to the Indochina war and try to find a way to end the seven-year conflict.

3. Red China would be admitted to the conference by invitation only and not be accepted as an equal partner. The Big Four would invite China to join and then send invitations to North and South Korea.

4. Russia would not be considered a belligerent in the Korean war. This is the role that Russia has refused to accept. U. N. charges of Russian belligerence was one of the factors which led to the break-off of the Panmunjom talks.

Report Britain's Missing Diplomats Living in Red Prague

BERLIN (AP)—The West Berlin Telegraph reported today that Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean, Britain's "missing diplomats," are living in Red Prague in a residential area reserved for government officials.

The newspaper quoted unidentified "Eastern newsmen" as the source of the report.

Burgess, a former official of the British embassy in Washington, and MacLean, head of the Foreign Office's American department, left England suddenly and without explanation on May 25, 1951. They were traced to France, but there the trail was lost.

Last summer, MacLean's American-born wife Melinda, who had moved to Geneva, Switzerland, vanished with their children.

Eisenhower Takes Doctor's Order for California Vacation with Willing Grin

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower took what the doctor ordered—a vacation in Southern California with a willing grin today.

In surroundings living up to the colored tourist folders, the President and his wife relaxed in the warm desert sunshine of Palm Springs, a Hollywood-type resort about 90 miles south of Los Angeles.

The President's physician, Dr. Howard Snyder, and members of the White House staff have been urging the Chief Executive for some time to get away to warm weather as a respite from the tough winter routine of Washington. Under the further urging of Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of the Studebaker Corp. and moving spirit behind the Citizens-for-Eisenhower movement in 1952, the President finally made it.

Today, he and Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver, were in residence on Smoke Tree Ranch a few miles outside town, living in what Hoffman described as "really a very simple little cottage" with four bedrooms and an enclosed patio.

On today's agenda for Mrs. Eisenhower was sun in the patio, and for the President probably golf at Tamarisk Country Club where Ben Hogan, winner of the 1953 Masters tournament, is the resident professional.

When the President's big government plane rolled to a stop at the Palm Springs Airport Wednesday night after a nine and a half hour flight from Washington, the Chief Executive told Governor Goodwin Knight:

"I'm delighted to be back here once again. We've been looking forward for a long time to this trip—being on this desert—that's what we're here for."

Once airport formalities were out of the way, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower ducked into a borrowed limousine and drove to the ranch home of Paul Helms, a Los Angeles bakery executive. The Helms' place is one of about 55 homes in the Smoke Tree development, and although the Eisenhowers are technically the guests of the Hoffmans, the Helms establishment was selected as a residence because it is more easily protected by the Secret Service.

Family Receives Word from GI Son Believed Killed

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—The family of Pvt. Richard Tartar, reported killed in Korea last year, kept a nerve-racking vigil today in hopes the 22-year-old soldier will "return from the dead."

The father, Walter, received a telegram Saturday which read: "Hello Pop. Will be home Thursday." It was signed "Dick."

One of his sisters said the family has planned "nothing specific" in preparation for his possible return fearing the telegram was a cruel hoax.

"This waiting is terrible," Mrs. Amelia Reece said. "Everyone's been telling us it's all a hoax. But we still have faith."

"I talked with a buddy of his who was standing only six feet away from him when they were hit," she said. Both were wounded, but the soldier told her he "didn't think Richard was hurt enough to die."

Mrs. Reece said she would stay in her home all day and other members of the family will remain in their homes in case Richard "should decide to stop at either house first."

"All we can do is sit down and wait," she said. "If he does arrive then we'll really have a celebration."

Eldorado Group Asks Board for New Bridge

but which must first be set up in a system for improvement approved by the state following traffic counts and application of other yardsticks.

He said minimum cost of replacing the bridge would be $10,000, that the county and state operate on a budget with the law requiring that counties budget their expenditures on a five-year period. This stretch of road from the city limits to Route 45 is not in the five-year program, he said, and approval of the highway department would be needed for its inclusion. All appropriations for the present year, too, have been taken up, he explained.

New Rabies Law June 1

"I realize, however," he said, "that you need a bridge there and the only way to get it is to go after it."

At this point it was voted the matter be turned over to the road and bridge committee for study and a report.

Read at today's meeting was a letter from the State Department of Agriculture reminding the county that the state's new rabies control law will be in effect June 1, that dogs are supposed to be vaccinated against rabies by that time. The law, the letter said, applies to all dogs that are not confined or on a leash at all times.

The board called upon Dr. W. H. Dean, a state veterinarian, to explain the setup. He said that a different colored tag would be given for the dogs each year when vaccinated and believed townships should arrange for meetings to get dogs vaccinated.

Vaccination Day Saturday

"I believe a proper method of getting the dogs vaccinated can be worked out satisfactorily," he stated.

Dr. Dean said that during the past six years the Harrisburg Humane society has taken a big interest in dog vaccinations, declaring "this is one of the best things that has happened here with about 800 animals being vaccinated through the society annually." He pointed out that the society was holding one of its vaccination days at the city hall this coming Saturday afternoon.

He discussed the fact that the county must appoint a licensed veterinarian as rabies inspector and that he will appoint the deputies needed.

Following the discussion the matter was turned over to the board's finance committee to look into possible county funds available to set up the program.

22 Pro-Red POWs Ask Permit to Live in Communist China

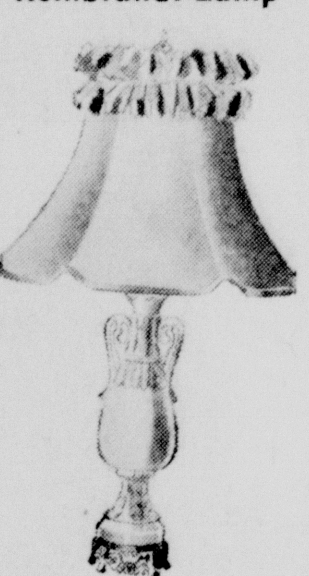

TOKYO (AP)—The 21 former American soldiers and their British comrade who chose communism have requested permission to live in Red China, Peiping Radio said today.

The broadcast said the 22 pro-Communist ex-prisoners, who have been in Kaesong since they were turned loose last month, "joyously" changed from prison blue uniforms to new civilian clothes Wednesday.

Billy Martin Loses Draft Appeal, Faces Army Induction
BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—Billy Martin, the New York Yankees' World Series hero, has lost his draft appeal and faces Army induction in the near future, it was announced today.

Martin, who served just less than six months in the Army at Ft. Ord, Calif., during the winter of 1950-51, was discharged for hardship reasons.

He was recently reclassified 1A by his Berkeley draft board under a general Selective Service order directing a review of all dependency classifications of men who served less than six months in the service.

Martin appealed the classification, claiming he had the same dependents as he did upon discharge. He listed his dependents as his wife, Lois, from whom he is now separated; daughter Kelly Ann, 14 months; mother, Mrs. J. A. Downey; his sister Joan, 13, and his stepfather.

Sleep Position Varies
The average person changes position from 20 to 45 times a night. The person who does not change position often, does not, contrary to popular opinion, have a restless night and will probably awaken with a lousy feeling. A level, resilient bed is necessary to facilitate frequent position changes.

Jimmy Slade Upsets Henry In 10 Rounds

WASHINGTON (UP)—Cocky Jimmy Slade, who laughed all the while he was scoring an upset victory over hard-hitting Clarence Henry, explained today that he was glib because he was "just feeling good, mighty good."

Slade had reason to feel good, for his 10-round majority decision over the Los Angeles heavyweight Wednesday night in the Turner's Arena ring certainly boosted his stock in the light-heavyweight division and may even have put him in line for a shot in the near future at world champion Archie Moore.

One other thing—it was a definite setback to the comeback hopes of Henry, who was making his second appearance after a six-months layoff caused by injuries.

The bushy-browed Slade of New York kept Henry off balance with his shifty style and elbows-kimbo punching, moving inside and outside swiftly to avoid most of Henry's ponderous blows. And he impressed the judges with his strong body attack and his ability to fight back after stung with some of Henry's best punches.

Both judges cast their votes for Slade, but Referee Charles Reynolds balloted for a draw.

Henry, who weighed 186 pounds to Slade's 178½, nailed Slade with his Sunday punch in the eighth round, a tremendous right to the head that threatened to turn the tide there and then. In his dressing room, Slade admitted he was "really hurt" by the wallop and for a second thought it was "the end."

But the New Yorker shook it off and came back with a flurry of blows that left Henry somewhat bewildered.

Jordan, Miller Named to Harness Racing Commission

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Two new members were seated today on the commission which oversees harness racing in Illinois.

Evert L. Jordan, 39-year-old Rockford businessman, became chairman, succeeding Eugene J. Hayes, Du Quoin.

Walter E. Miller, 63, former mayor of Elgin, took a seat on the commission to replace Edwin V. Champion, Peoria.

Hayes and Champion turned in their resignations several months ago. The appointment of their successors on the Illinois Harness Racing Commission was announced Wednesday by Gov. William G. Stratton.

Third member of the board is Paul Dougherty, La Grange, who was named to the commission by Stratton early in 1953. Like Jordan and Miller, Dougherty is a Republican.

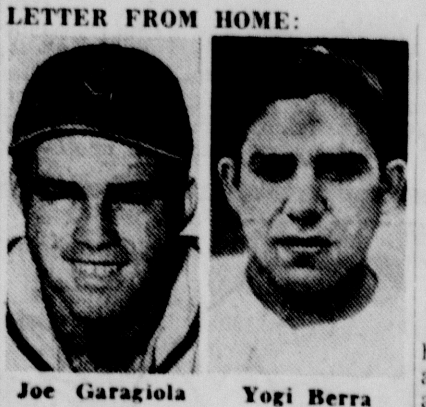

Jordan has lived in Rockford since 1953. He is president of Jordan Brothers, purchasing agent of western horses for a dog food manufacturer. His stable currently owns four harness horses.

Miller was mayor of Elgin from 1943 to 1951. He worked for the Elgin Watch Co. 32 years and now is in the real estate insurance business.

Jordan told reporters the offices of the commission will be moved to the Chicago area or Rockford. Under Hayes, the board kept its offices in Du Quoin.

Pal Joey Tells How Yogi Butted Iron Post

LETTER FROM HOME:
Joe Garagiola Yogi Berra

The most colorful of today's generation of baseball players has to be Lawrence (Yogi) Berra, the anthropoid catcher of the World Champion Yankees. No one knows him better than Joe Garagiola, the Chicago catcher with whom he was spawned on The Hill, an Italian section of St. Louis. In a letter to sportswriter Les Biederman, Garagiola gives us a buddy's insight on the character that is Yogi Berra.

haven't heard anything yet. Yogi always put mustard on the bananas!

Yogi always was a good athlete. Seemed he could do things better than any of us. Just had that magic touch.

When we played football, Yogi always did the kicking because he could kick farther and straighter. You've seen incidents in the movies where the kid on the sidelines picks up a loose ball and boots it back over the heads of the players on the field. That actually happened one day.

We stopped to watch a high school team and a ball rolled to Yogi. He was wearing gym shoes and kicked the ball a good 60 yards. The coach ran over and tried to get Yogi to come out and play. But there was a hitch. Yogi wasn't even in school!

We played most of our football in a playground at night. The lights went off at 8:30. It was just about "blackout" time one night when Yogi ran the ball and bongo—the lights went out.

We heard Yogi screaming and he kept yelling somebody had kicked him. We ran to his side and found out he had crashed into an iron pole and made quite a dent in it.

I saw Yogi pick up a ping-pong paddle for the first time, enter a

Kansas Beats Kansas State, 85-74, to Keep Hopes Alive For Berth in NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK (UP)—Kansas, the surprise team which came within one basket of winning two straight NCAA basketball championships, kept its hopes alive for a berth in this year's tourney by driving back today into a tie for first place in the Big Seven.

The Jayhawks of Dr. Forrest (Phog) Allen caught up with idle Colorado in the red-hot conference race with an impressive 85-74 victory over Kansas State Wednesday night that also gave them a new school record of 27 straight home court games.

That means that Kansas and Colorado each has a 7-1 league record with four games to play and points to the winner of their clash March 1 at Lawrence, Kans., as the likely league champion.

Kansas is shooting for its third straight conference title, but that's a mere stepping stone to the Jayhawks' ambition. Two seasons ago, they won the NCAA title with a great team led by Clyde Lovellette, last season, with Lovellette gone, they surprised by going to the finals of the tourney before losing to Indiana, 69-68, on Bob Leonard's famous free throw with 27 seconds to play.

Duquesne Wins

Duquesne, the nation's No. 1 team, had no trouble in rolling to a 93-59 conquest of little Geneva although Geneva's Bill Blair took scoring honors with 26 points to 20 for Jim Tucker of the Dukes. Duquesne faces only five more obstacles to a perfect regular season—Bowling Green, Cincinnati, Dayton, St. Bonaventure, and Villanova—before going into the National Invitation Tournament.

Holy Cross, ranked sixth nationally, breezed to its 19th win in 20 games, 89-67, over St. Michael's (Vt.), while eighth-ranked Notre Dame scored its 15th win in 20 games, 85-74.

In other leading games Wednesday night, Jimmy Young's 28 points led Canisius to an 81-70 win over Syracuse. North Carolina State, ranked 20th nationally, trounced Virginia Tech, 96-54; Washington (Mo.) upset Loyola (Ill.), 59-55; John Horan scored 26 points and Bill Uhl 24 to give NIT-bound Dayton a 91-66 win over Cincinnati; Villanova downed St. Bonaventure, 79-64, as Jack Bevine outscored the Bobcats' Mal Duffy, 23-21; Army downed Lehigh, 76-65; Navy trounced Gettysburg, 83-70; and Texas Christian beat SMU, 73-65.

Shantz Ordered To 'Ease Up' In Workouts

By United Press
Spring training hasn't even started yet but southpaw Bobby Shantz of the Athletics already has been told to "ease up."

Shantz, the American league's most valuable player in 1952 but a mere five-game winner last year when he injured his shoulder, cut loose so hard in an informal workout at West Palm Beach, Fla., Wednesday that Coach Rollie Hemmley had to caution him.

The pint-sized Pottstown, Pa., left-hander protested his arm felt fine but Hemmley insisted that he get up a little. Shantz was one of three Philadelphia pitchers who worked out under the scrutiny of Manager Eddie Joost, who participated in a pepper game.

Second baseman Billy Goodman dropped in on the Red Sox "rookie school" at Sarasota, Fla., and after taking a look around, signed his 1954 contract.

Without wasting any time, Goodman took batting practice along with Hoot Evers, Karl Olson, Billy Consolo and the young catchers in camp. Five young hurlers pitched batting practice with Manager Lou Boudreau and Coach Del Baker looking on.

Bilko Signs
Outfielder Jim Belting, who batted .288 and whacked 11 homers last season, signed with the Tigers, leaving nine Detroit players unsigned, while burly John Hotki agreed to terms with the Pirates and thereby became the 38th player on the club to do so.

Only seven Cardinal players remained to be signed today following the acceptance of terms by first baseman Steve Bilko. The only regular among the Redbirds still unsigned is short-stop Solly Hemus.

The Yankees announced the signing of three more players who brought the club total to 27. Catcher Charlie Silvera, outfielder Bob Cerv and pitcher Al Cicotte all signed their contracts but Allie Reynolds failed to do so following an hour-and-a-half conference with Assistant General Manager Roy Hamey Wednesday.

Giant officials, pitchers Al Corwin and Matty Pione, a young farmhand will leave New York today for the club's spring training site at Phoenix, Ariz. Pitcher Dave Koslo will join the group when the train reaches Chicago.

132 Fired by Commerce Dep't For Security

WASHINGTON — The Commerce Department has fired 132 employees—23 of them alleged subversives—under the Eisenhower administration's security program, it was disclosed today.

Asst. Secretary James C. Worthy told a House Appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public that the security firings in the Commerce Department also included 36 suspected homosexuals and 73 others.

The Commerce Department was the sixth department for which some figures on "security risks" have been released in congressional testimony or disclosed unofficially.

The others are:

Agriculture: Secretary Ezra T. Benson said in congressional testimony one employee had been fired because of "actual membership in the Communist party," and there had been other removals for security reasons. He gave no other figures.

Treasury: 130 fired as security risks; four specifically involved in disloyalty findings. From congressional testimony.

Justice: Eight fired as security risks, including one former Communist. Congressional testimony.

Post Office: 166 fired as security risks; 23,548 under investigation. No report on disloyalty cases. Congressional testimony.

State: 534 security dismissals with 11 cases involving disloyalty. From Democratic members of House Appropriations subcommittee which questioned department security chief R. W. Scott McLeod. He later said the figures were inaccurate, but gave no others.

School Problems Commission to Meet at SIU Feb. 25

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Five members of the Illinois School Problems Commission will hold a public hearing at Southern Illinois University Feb. 25 in the university school auditorium.

The public is invited to offer comments and discussion on improving public school education to State Sens. Homer Butler (R-Marion) and David Davis (R-Bloomington); State Reps. Charles Clabaugh (R-Champaign), commission chairman, and Harry W. McClintock (R-West Frankfort) and State Superintendent of Public Instruction

Vernon Nickell, who will represent the 17-member commission. The commission is holding a total of four public hearings to gather information on six aspects of Illinois' public school system and will make its report March 1.

Parking's a $48 Million Industry in Capital; Other Cities Following Trend

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It's too bad that Pierre Charles L'Efant, the designer of this town, didn't know about the automobile and the need to park it.

Parking here, as it is in most U. S. cities, is a major headache. However, private enterprise has done a noble job of rectifying L'Efant's understandable oversight by providing the most unusual assortment of parking facilities to be found.

A spokesman for the National Parking Association hails the District of Columbia as the best parking proving ground that exists.

If you rent an office in the Capital Building—built by the husband of the noted Washington hostess, Gwen Caltrix—you drive up a ramp to your floor and park right across from your door. Tenants love it.

A few blocks from the White House there's the Park-O-Mat. It's the latest in parking devices. Here's how it works:

You drive into a grooved runway, turn off the motor and leave the car in neutral. The attendant gives you a ticket and that's all you do.

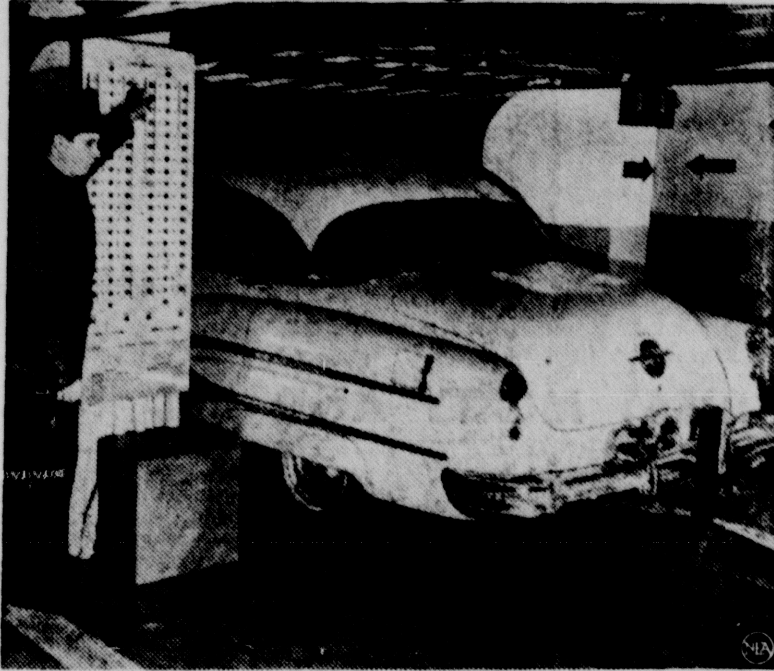

The attendant looks at a control panel, selects an empty space in the tall concrete structure and pushes a button. From then on it's automatic. The car is put in place and the lifting device returns for the next car in a minute and one-half.

The device has worked for two years without any trouble and is making money for the owner.

In the heart of the shopping district two new buildings are nearing completion which provide the latest types of parking facilities. Both go down many stories below the surface to provide space for cars. One is a parking garage exclusively, and unique because its builders think it will make money in spite of its being built on some of the most costly land in the city.

The other attempts to provide both a public parking garage and take care of persons who rent offices in the building.

A District ordinance forces builders of new apartments to provide adequate parking facilities for tenants. Practically all firms which have opened new stores and branches have provided elaborate parking facilities.

PUSH-BUTTON PARKING is one of Washington's growing assortment of facilities that make capital a parking proving ground.

Also, many of the banks, restaurants, loan companies, barber shops and theaters have made special deals with parking lots and garages to give special rates to their customers.

It all adds up to a $48 million industry in the city.

In the nation as a whole parking cars has become one of the fastest growing businesses, now in the $3 billion category. During the first nine months of 1953, some 1500 garages were started. They will cost more than $28 million.

Other cities in the U. S. are following Washington's lead. The trend is toward automatic parking devices like the Park-O-Mat, and lots which allow the patron to park his own car.

The big bugaboos of the industry are labor and space costs. Parking in the District is $1.25 a day downtown, and 40 cents for the first hour. But it's still a tight squeeze, operators claim, to make a profit when it costs about 20 cents per car when an attendant parks it and returns it to the customer. That cost is close to average for the country, too.

Wasted space in parking facilities is being attacked from all sides by the experts. The average garage has about 2500 cubic feet for every car it can handle, yet one car displaces only about 500 cubic feet.

One of the goals of the National Parking Association is to have all parking on city streets banned. Members of the group can handle this extra problem, they claim. And it would solve most traffic problems, they point out.

Continued Drought Poses Serious Threat to Crops in Sections of U. S.

By United Press
The severe drought of 1953 has continued into the winter in many areas and poses a serious threat to crops, a survey showed today.

Nebraska experienced its driest January since 1900 and the second driest on record. Other drought areas include southern Iowa, northern Missouri, Kansas, portions of Illinois and Indiana, and California.

But crop experts said good spring rains could restore the soil moisture and wipe out the crop threat in most of the dry sections.

Some states stricken by drought last summer have shown marked improvement, the survey showed. Among these are Texas and Kentucky.

Iowa is hit

But in the Midwestern drought belt, many farmers have had to haul water for their livestock, and some small towns have been plagued by shortages.

In Iowa, the nation's No. 1 corn state, January precipitation over most of the state amounted to 25 per cent of normal or less. Only in the northeastern corner did moisture total 50 per cent of normal.

Streams, wells and ponds have dried up in southern and central Iowa.

Kansas, the nation's breadbasket, experienced its fourth driest January and had no measurable rainfall during the first two weeks of February. January precipitation was 0.13 inch, a fifth of normal.

In Missouri, precipitation during the six months from Aug. 1, 1953, to Feb. 1, 1954, totaled only 8.38 inches, compared with 14.15 inches for the corresponding period a year ago.

In Dunklin County, Mo., more than 5,000 persons made destitute by drought are being fed surplus milk, flour and beef under government drought-relief.

No Surplus Moisture in Illinois

The Missouri Legislature last October appropriated $6,500,000 to defray freight costs involved in emergency hay shipments. Most of the money has been spent and the Legislature will convene again Feb. 23 to discuss further appropriations.

California, experiencing one of its driest winters, is faced with the threat of a critical water shortage, officials said.

Old Slave House Featured in Ford Times Article

Hickory Hill, the 112-year-old mansion near Shawneetown, in southern Illinois, where the slave traffic once flourished in a free-state environment, is the subject of an article in the March issue of Ford Times, Ford Motor Company's nationally distributed magazine.

Under the heading, "The Old Slave House," Author Lela Campbell Dowel describes the builder, John Hart Crenshaw, as a man who "it appears, dealt legally with slaves" (whom employers at one time were permitted to lease from slave territory and bring into Illinois) but was once indicted for kidnapping them. She writes that "through innocence or influence" he was acquitted.

The author also takes the reader up to the third floor of the historic dwelling and describes cell-like rooms which are "too low for a man to stand erect" and two wooden contraptions in the hallway "that can suggest only whipping posts."

The Ford Times piece, illustrated with a painting by Lillian Scalzo, recalls that according to tradition Abraham Lincoln visited Hickory Hill more than a century ago and points out that the ghostly mansion currently attracts thousands of tourists each year.

Piping hot griddle cakes made with

MILNOT

2 cups all-purpose flour 2 eggs
1/4 tsp. salt 2 cups diluted Milnot
4 tsp. baking powder (1 cup Milnot, 1 cup water)
2 tbs. sugar 1/2 cup melted fat

Sift dry ingredients together into a mixing bowl. Beat eggs, add diluted Milnot and melted fat. Pour this on dry ingredients and stir only until thoroughly mixed. Bake on hot griddle until golden brown on under side and top is covered with bubbles, then turn and bake on other side. To eliminate smoke, do not grease griddle. To test griddle for the right temperature, use cold water test. If a drop of water forms little balls and dances on griddle, temperature is correct for baking. Makes 2 dozen small cakes.

And so thrifty! Milnot costs less than a can of milk! Use Milnot for all cooking purposes, as you would use milk, cream, or a can of milk!

New Money-Burning System Cheaper

CHICAGO (AP)—The burning of worn bills at the rate of $300,000 an hour at the bank and the fire lasts four hours daily, five times a week. The expensive blaze takes place in a new gas-fired incinerator recently installed at the bank.

Under the old system of disposing of worn bills, four holes were punched through the pictures of Washington, Lincoln, Hamilton and others. The perforated bills then were sliced in half lengthwise. The lower halves were mailed to the currency redemption division of the United States Treasury where they were examined to make sure there were no counterfeits. Receipt of the bills was then acknowledged, and the second shipment would be made. Both halves would finally be burned in Washington.

The government is expected to save thousands of dollars yearly by eliminating the costs previously involved in bookkeeping, correspondence, handling, travel and insurance.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:
Fort de Chartres--Southern Illinois
Men Helped Capture George Washington

By John W. Allen
Southern Illinois University

George Washington never visited Illinois, but he did have unpleasant visitors from here. These visitors were "a hundred select men" who went from Fort de Chartres in Randolph county to help capture the father of his country at Great Meadow, Pennsylvania in 1754. But, this only one of the numerous significant events that occurred at or were closely associated with the old fort.

One of these events took place in 1720, the year that Pierre Duc de Boisbriant completed the building of the first fort. In that year Philippe Francois Renault brought engineers, skilled workmen and 500 Negro slaves to the vicinity, intending to develop a great mining industry. When mining did not prove very profitable, many of the slaves were sold to the settlers, thereby establishing Negro slavery in Illinois.

Expedition Ends in Disaster

Another event, and a tragic one at that, came in 1736. In that year Pierre de Artaguet, commander at the fort, received orders to lead an expedition against the Chickasaw Indians. He accordingly took 30 regulars, 100 volunteers and several hundred Indian allies from Fort de Chartres and started southward in February 1736. Chevalier Vincennes from the French post on the Wabash, with 20 additional soldiers and 100 Indians joined D'Artaguet at the mouth of the Ohio. These combined forces continued toward the Chickasaw country.

The expedition ended in disaster. D'Artaguet, Vincennes, and Father Senat were captured by the Indians and held for ransom. When no ransom was forthcoming the captives were slowly roasted at the stake, the process taking almost all of a day.

In 1751 Richard Macarty, an Irishman, became commander. The old fort had fallen into decay and it was decided to replace it. Work on the new fort began in 1753 and was finished in 1756.

Washington Leads Militia

Built of stone, the new fort cost 5,000,000 livres or $1,000,000 a great sum of money for that time. The outer walls, 15 feet high and more than two feet thick, enclosed an area of four acres. A powder magazine, storerooms, barracks, quarters for officers and other essential buildings were sufficient for 400 soldiers. It was the best built and most commodious fort in America.

In 1754, while the fort was being built, a group of French explorers operating in Pennsylvania were attacked by Virginia militia under the command of George Washington. The French commander, Coulon de Jumonville, was slain. Some historians believe that this act should be considered as the opening one of the French and Indian Wars.

Neyon de Villiers, senior captain under Macarty at Fort de Chartres asked for and received permission to lead a party to avenge the killings. It was as a part of this plan that "a hundred picked men" and Indian allies started on the long journey to Pennsylvania. They were joined by other French forces at Fort Duquesne.

Surrendered on July 4

Washington and his men took refuge in a makeshift fortification at Great Meadow, Pennsylvania. There they surrendered on July 4, a date that was later to be marked by other events significant in American history.

France, defeated in war, ceded the Illinois country to the British in 1763. The hostile attitude of the Indians, encouraged by Chief Pontiac, prevented the British from taking possession until October 10, 1765.

Dark days came with the British. Many of the more prosperous and influential of the French moved across the Mississippi into Missouri. In 1772 the river flooded and water stood seven feet deep within the fort. The river channel also shifted and the west wall of the fort was carried away. The military garrison was transferred to Kaskaskia and Fort de Chartres was never officially occupied again. It ceased to be of military significance.

Decay of Fort

Occasional glimpses indicate the gradual decay of the fort. In 1804 one writer states that the walls were practically intact. In 1805 another observes that the natives had begun to haul the building stones away. A visitor to the ruins in 1817 tells of flushing a flock of wild turkeys within the walls of the fort. In 1829 James Hall visited the site and wrote, "It was curious to see, in the gloom of the forest, these remnants of the architecture of a past age."

On October 10, 1854, exactly 89 years after the day when Captain Stirling and his Highlander troops

Bees Not as Efficient As Generally Believed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Honeybees, reputedly models of busy efficiency, have some extravagant habits. They work themselves literally to death—a worker's life averages only six weeks. They commit suicide when they sting, leaving both sting and vital organs in the flesh of their victims.

Their strange custom of swarming often endangers their existence. For example, when a new colony swarms in the fall it may be caught without enough honey in storage to last until spring and with its emigrant workers from the old hive too old to be of much use.
